

Please do not lessen the restrictions to the NJ Do Not Call list! Since it's enactment, the number of unsolicited calls to our house has drastically reduced. Our family time is not constantly interrupted by bothersome salespeople. While I understand that salespeople need to make a living too, I do not want to be harrassed in the privacy of my home. I used to get an average of 6 calls per day, with most occurring during our family dinner time. Now I only get one call per month - and the salespeople are very accommodating when I tell them I am on the Do Not Call list. We no longer cringe when the phone rings and fight over who is going to tell the salesperson that we are not interested in whatever they are trying to sell to us.
